

An Nabiyy

Pedigree of the Nabi, by way of synopsis and distinction

Sayyidinaa Muhammad

📅 22 May 2015 👁 Hits: 376

🖨 Print

Pedigree of the Nabi, by way of synopsis and distinction

taken from

Rawza Tus-Safâ

by Sayyidinaa Sheikh Mubarak Ali Jilani al-Hashmi Al- Qadri

His name is Muhammad Sall Allahu 'alaihi wa Aalihi wa Sallim, the son of 'Abdullah, the son of Abdul-Muttaleb, the son of Hâshem, the son of Abd Munâf, the son of Qussai, the son of Kallâb, the son of Laovi, the son of Ghâleb, the son of Qahar, the son of Mâlak, the son of Nasser, the son of Kanatah, the son of Madrekah, the son of Alyâs, the son of Nasser, the son of Adnân.

The geneology of his exalted lordship, the prince of existances (s.a.s.) is regular as far ad Adnân, but above the latter there are discrepancies. Nevertheless, all historians agree, despite a multitude of contradictions, in placing six of the inspired prophets -- i.e. Esma'il [Ishmael], Ebrâhim [Abraham], Hud [Heber], Nuh [Noah], Edris [Enoch], and Sheth [Seth] -- into the pedigree of the ancestors of his lordship, the Seal of the Prophets, as far back as Adam, the father of mankind. The biographies of each of these, and of all the other prophets, have, according to their requiremetns, been given in the first volume, and now the musk-writing reed will, from a feeling of veneration, by way of abridgemetn, record the lives of some of the just-enumerated ancestors of his lorship. From Him comes protection and guidance!